FOREWORD

Education is the key to a better life and cornerstone of any nation's development. With education, people can get good jobs and improve their future. Gombe State is committed to ensuring that every child has access to quality basic education. The Baseline Mapping Exercise for Basic Education Teachers in Gombe State is a critical step in addressing the challenges faced by the state's education sector, particularly in the areas of teacher recruitment, deployment, and retention. This report, prepared in line with the requirements of the Human Capital Opportunities for Prosperity and Equity: Governance (HOPE-GOV) programme, provides a comprehensive analysis of the current state of basic education in Gombe State, identifying teachers' gaps and proposes actionable solutions to improve the adequacy and quality of basic education teachers in the State.

The findings of this exercise highlight the urgent need for strategic interventions to address the significant teacher shortages, particularly in rural areas, and to ensure that all students have access to qualified and motivated teachers. By implementing the recruitment/deployment plan and recommendations outlined in this report, Gombe State can make significant strides toward achieving the goals of the Universal Basic Education (UBE) program and ensuring that every child has the opportunity to succeed.

I commend the efforts of the team from the Gombe State Ministry of Education, the Gombe State Universal Basic Education Board (GSUBEB), and all stakeholders involved in this exercise. Their dedication and commitment to improving the state's education system are commendable. I hope that this report will serve as a valuable resource for policymakers, educators, and development partners as we work together to build a brighter future for the children of Gombe State.

Aishatu UmarMaigari, PhD
Honorable Commissioner
Gombe State Ministry of Education.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The Gombe State Government is committed to enhancing human capital by fostering equality of opportunity and encouraging individuals to leverage their initiative and hard work. Our goal is to increase economic opportunities while promoting prosperity and social inclusion. The successful completion of the Baseline Mapping Exercise for Basic Education Teachers in Gombe State would not have been possible without the collective efforts and contributions of numerous individuals and organizations. We extend our heartfelt gratitude to all those who played a role in this important initiative.

I would like to use this opportunity to first and foremost thank His Excellency, Muhammadu Inuwa Yahaya, the Executive Governor of Gombe State, for his unwavering support and commitment to improving the State's education sector. His leadership style and visionary action have put education sector in the state forward.

I am particularly grateful to the leadership of the Honourable Commissioner, Gombe State Ministry of Education, Dr. Aishatu Maigari, The Special Adviser, Development Partners Coordination, Dr. Ishiyaku Ibrahim Babayo and the Chairman Gombe State Universal Basic Education Board (GSUBEB), Hon. Babaji Babadidi for their collaboration and dedication throughout the exercise. Their expertise and commitment to improving basic education in the state have been invaluable.

I am sincerely grateful to the Baseline Exercise Technical Working Group/Desk Officers, whose tireless efforts in data collection, analysis, and reporting have ensured the accuracy and reliability of the findings presented in this report. We also acknowledge the contributions of local government education authorities, school administrators, and teachers who provided critical data and insights during the exercise. We also thank the team at the Gombe State Education Management Information System (EMIS) for providing the secondary data needed for this exercise.

Finally, I thank the communities and stakeholders across Gombe State for their cooperation and support. Their involvement in this process underscores the importance of collective action in addressing the challenges facing our education system.

This report is a testament to the power of collaboration and shared commitment to improving education for all children in Gombe State. I look forward to continuing this journey together, ensuring that every child has access to quality basic education.

Alh. Abubakar Adamu
Permanent Secretary
Gombe State Ministry of Education

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Baseline Mapping Exercise for Basic Education Teachers in Gombe State was conducted under the World Bank-supported Human Capital Opportunities for Prosperity and Equity- Governance (HOPE-GOV) programme, which aims to strengthen governance in Nigeria's Basic Education and Primary Healthcare sectors. This exercise provides a comprehensive assessment of Gombe State's teacher workforce, identifying critical gaps in recruitment, deployment, and retention to improve education quality and access for all children.

Key Findings

1. Teacher Shortages: Gombe State faces a significant deficit in its teaching workforce, with current staffing levels insufficient to meet the needs of its growing student population. Projections indicate an urgent need for additional teachers over the next five years, compounded by expected retirements.
2. Unequal Distribution: Teacher shortages are most severe in rural areas, where schools struggle with inadequate staffing, while urban centers face overcrowding. Additionally, pre-primary and primary schools account for the majority of the gap, highlighting a need for foundational education support.
3. Gender Imbalance: A disparity exists in the teaching workforce, with female teachers significantly underrepresented, particularly in rural LGAs. This imbalance reflects broader societal barriers to women's participation in the education sector.
4. Qualifications and Specialization: While most teachers hold the minimum required qualifications (NCE/Grade II), there is a shortage of subject-specialized educators, particularly in English, Mathematics, and Science—key areas for student success.

Strategic Recommendations

- To address these challenges, the report proposes a five-year recruitment and deployment strategy, focusing on:
- Targeted Recruitment: Prioritizing high-need areas, particularly rural schools and early-grade education, while ensuring subject-specific expertise in core disciplines.
- Gender Equity: Actively recruiting and retaining female teachers, especially in underserved regions, through incentives and supportive policies.
- Professional Development: Strengthening teacher training programs to improve qualifications and pedagogical skills, particularly in STEM fields.
- Equitable Deployment: Implementing a needs-based allocation system to ensure fair distribution of teachers, reducing urban-rural disparities.
- Sustainable Financing: Diversifying funding sources through government budgets, donor partnerships, and private sector collaboration to support long-term teacher workforce stability.

Conclusion

This baseline exercise underscores the critical need for immediate and sustained action to address Gombe State's teacher workforce challenges. By implementing the proposed strategies, the state can bridge existing gaps, improve education quality, and ensure equitable access for all students.

The findings serve as a roadmap for policymakers, educators, and development partners, emphasizing collaborative efforts to build a stronger, more inclusive basic education system. With committed leadership and strategic investments, Gombe State can achieve the goals of Universal Basic Education (UBE) and lay the foundation for long-term socioeconomic growth.

SECTION ONE

1.0 INTRODUCTION

The baseline exercise mapping the number and duty stations of basic education teachers across Gombe State and preparation of a multi-year costed recruitment and deployment plan to address staffing gaps identified is a requirement of Disbursement-Linked Result 5.1 of the Human Capital Opportunities for Prosperity and Equity: Governance (HOPE-GOV) programme; a World Bank-funded Programme for Results (PforR) initiative. HOPE-GOV aims to strengthen financial and human resource management in Nigeria's basic education and primary healthcare sectors, supporting government programs like Universal Basic Education (UBE) and Basic Healthcare Provision.

The development objective of the HOPE-GOV for Nigeria is to support the Federal Republic of Nigeria in strengthening financial and human resource management in basic education and primary healthcare sectors. The HOPE-GOV PforR will support government programs that focus on improving service delivery in the basic education and primary healthcare sectors. These government programs are:

- i. The universal basic education (UBE) program established by the Universal Basic Education Act of 2004 (UBE Act), now being refocused State Medium Term Basic Education Strategic Plans (SMTBEPs) 2024-2027.
- ii. The basic healthcare provision program established by the National Health Act of 2014, now being implemented through the National Health Sector Renewal Investment Initiative (NHSRII), 2024 - 2028.

The program focuses on three result areas (RA):

- RA 1: increased availability and effectiveness of financing for basic education and primary healthcare service delivery;
- RA 2: enhanced transparency and accountability for basic education and primary healthcare financing; and

- RA 3: improved recruitment, deployment, and performance management of basic education teachers and primary healthcare workers by federal, state, and local governments.

This exercise is in fulfillment of indicator 5 (Increased number of teachers and health workers deployed), specifically DLR 5.1; baseline exercise mapping the number and duty stations of basic education teachers across Gombe State and preparation of a multi-year costed recruitment and deployment plan to address staffing gaps.

1.1 Background

Gombe State (Jewel in the Savannah), located in the North East geopolitical zone, was created out of the then Bauchi State on 1 October, 1996, with Gombe town as its administrative and commercial capital. The State covers an area of 20,265km² and shares common boundaries with all the five other States in the North East: Adamawa, Bauchi, Borno, Taraba and Yobe. The State has Eleven (11) Local Government Areas (LGAs) and 114 Wards. The Local Government Areas are: Akko, Balanga, Billiri, Dukku, Funakaye, Gombe, Kaltungo, Kwami, Nafada, Shongom and Yamaltu/Deba.

Gombe State originated from the fusion of two distinct large groups: the Gombe Emirate in the North and the ethnic grouping in the South, known as Tangale-Waja with an estimated population of about 3.25 million as of 2016 comprises of 15 Emirates Councils and Chiefdoms. Major tribes in the State include Waja, Tangale, Tera, Fulani, Bolewa, Kanuri, Jukun, Cham, Tula, Pero/Shonge and Kamo/Awak; however, Hausa language is widely spoken all over the State.

Economic/Commercial/Investment Profile: The unique location of Gombe at the Centre of the North East has made it a resting and meeting point for travelers and traders from different parts of the geopolitical zones and beyond, long before the State was created. The people of Gombe State are not only commercially oriented, but also large-scale farmers, especially of millet, beans, maize, rice, sorghum, Bambara nut, groundnut and sesame, which are basic raw materials in high demand by industries within and outside the State. Agriculture engages about 80% of Gombe's active population, it has been enhanced by irrigation which is made possible due to the presence of three multipurpose dams, namely Cham, Balanga and Dadin Kowa. Two of these dams also have hydro-electric power potentials and are popular tourist attractions. The Climate of the state is warm not exceeding 30°C during hottest months (March – May) with an annual average rainfall of 850mm.

Almost thirty different minerals have been discovered in the region although only a small portion of the population actively participates in mining activities. Some of Gombe State's mineral resources include uranium, gypsum and limestone. Petroleum deposits were also discovered. The Ashaka Cement Company utilizes limestone and gypsum to manufacture cement. The Uranium Prospecting Company also runs its operation from Gombe. The state has enormous tourism potential which still needs to be exploited. The mountainous areas that lie in the well-known Gongola Basin have numerous attractions and camping sites. Other popular sites include the Bubayero Tomb in Gombe, Abba town and the Tula Battle Field.

Gombe State's education system, like that of Nigeria, follows a 6-3-3-4 structure (Primary, Junior Secondary, Senior Secondary, and Tertiary) with recent initiatives focusing on improving infrastructure, teacher welfare, and streamlining the Almajiri system. Gombe State has 780,405 as the number of Out of School Children (OOSC) with the total of 610,179 of children aged 3-14. Therefore, the percentage of out-of-school children aged 3-14 is 78.18% making it one of the states with the high rate in Nigeria.

The Gombe State Universal Basic Education Board under the supervision of the Ministry of Education is responsible for basic education in the state. The state has a separate Ministry of Higher Education.

As highlighted by Education Management Information System (EMIS) units of the State Universal Basic Education Board (SUBEB) and the Ministry of Education, Gombe State has a total number of 1829 Public Pre-primary/Primary Schools and 414 Public Junior Secondary Schools. In addition, the State has a total number of 1068 Private Pre Primary/Primary Schools and 105 Private Junior Secondary Schools. The EMIS reported that the State is faced with major challenges of low enrolment in Basic Education when compared with school-aged children. The major component of out-of-school children (OOSC) in the State are the Almajiris, girl-child, and nomadic children. The Almajiris, being the larger number of OOSC is because the state is bordered by two States which are Borno and Yobe resulting in a high influx of insurgencies into the State, especially during the dry season. This situation poses a great challenge to the state in its effort to reduce the number of OOSCs and puts pressure on the existing teacher workforce.

1.2 Objectives of the Baseline Mapping Exercise

The objectives of the Baseline Mapping Exercise include:

- To identify and document the current number and location of basic education teachers across Gombe State.
- To assess the existing gaps in teacher recruitment and deployment in the state.
- To develop a multi-year costed teacher recruitment and deployment plan to address the staffing gaps.
- To inform strategies for improving teacher performance management by the state and local governments.

1.3 Scope of the Baseline Mapping Exercise

The baseline mapping exercise encompasses all the basic education institutions within Gombe State, including primary and junior secondary schools (nursery/pre-primary was not included in this report). It captured comprehensive data on the teaching workforce, identified gaps, and strategized effective teacher deployment and performance management. The scope of the exercise also includes distribution across LGAs, and urban and rural settings to ensure an equitable assessment and address the diverse educational needs across the state.

SECTION TWO: METHODOLOGY

2.0 INTRODUCTION

In alignment with the HOPE-GOV Program-for-Results (PforR) initiative—an ambitious national framework aimed at strengthening governance and human capital systems—Disbursement Linked Indicator (DLI) 5 of the program specifically addressed the strategic objective of increasing the number of teachers and health workers deployed across states. DLI 5 comprised two Disbursement Linked Results (DLRs), with DLR 5.1 requiring participating states to undertake a comprehensive baseline mapping exercise. This exercise involved identifying the total number and duty stations of basic education teachers operating within the state. In addition, states were mandated to develop a multi-year, costed teacher recruitment and deployment plan that would systematically address existing staffing gaps and support future workforce needs. The plan was expected to be both financially sustainable and operationally feasible, aligning with broader education sector strategies.

As part of its commitment to the HOPE-GOV framework, Gombe State successfully completed and published this baseline mapping and strategic planning exercise by March 31, 2025, meeting the stipulated deadline and contributing to the overall goals of the program. This milestone not only fulfilled the requirements of DLR 5.1 but also laid the groundwork for evidence-based teacher deployment and long-term education sector reform.

2.1 The Approach

Gombe State adopted a mixed-method approach, incorporating extensive stakeholder mapping, sensitization, and engagement on the HOPE-GOV program. The state also undertook desk reviews, structured data collection, and analytical work. The baseline mapping exercise aimed to collect and examine data on key indicators necessary for strategic teacher planning and deployment.

2.2 Data Focus Areas

Item	Description
Names, types, and locations of basic education schools	Identify public/private schools and their geographic distribution across LGAs.
Total number of teachers	Quantify teaching personnel at pre-primary, primary, and junior secondary levels.
Gender distribution of teachers	Break down the number of male vs. female teachers across each education level.
Academic qualifications of teachers	Assess credentials such as NCE, B.Ed, HND, PGDE, etc.
Number of teachers nearing retirement	Data on those expected to retire within five years for workforce planning.
Student enrollment rates (2022–2024)	Annual changes in enrollment to gauge access and growth.
Teachers per subject taught	Determine teacher distribution across subjects
Total number of students	Collate overall student populations per education level.

2.3 Method of Data Collection

As part of this baseline mapping exercise, both primary and secondary data sources were utilized. Secondary data was obtained from the Gombe State Education Management Information System (EMIS) housed within the Ministry of Education, as well as from the Gombe State Universal Basic Education Board (GSUBEB). Additional secondary sources included the state's payroll records, the Gombe State Medium-Term Basic Education Strategic Plan (2024–2027), the Census Report (2021–2022), the Strategic Education Sector Operational Plan (SESOP) (2025–2027), Local Government Education Sector Operational Plan (LESOP) (2025–2027), official state websites, online reports, and other relevant publications. Primary data was gathered through a structured data collection instrument designed for field use. To estimate the teacher gap across schools, the current pupil–teacher ratio will be computed by dividing the total number of pupils by the total number of teachers at each educational level—pre-primary, primary, and junior secondary. This ratio will then be compared with the standards set by the National Policy on Education: 1:25 for pre-primary, 1:35 for primary, and 1:40 for junior secondary schools. The teacher shortfall for each school will be determined by subtracting the calculated ratio from the respective benchmark. These individual school-level gaps will be aggregated at the Local Government Area (LGA) level, and further consolidated to generate the overall teacher gap at the state level.

2.4 Techniques of Data Analysis

The data collected during the baseline mapping exercise were subjected to thorough analysis using a range of descriptive statistical techniques. These included frequency distributions, cross-tabulations, graphical representations (such as tables, charts, and histograms), and percentage computations to summarize and interpret the dataset effectively. Analytical processes were conducted using Microsoft Excel (2018 edition) and Stata Statistical Software (Version 17), both of which provided robust platforms for organizing, visualizing, and interrogating the data. This methodological rigor ensured the generation of accurate, evidence-based insights capable of informing strategic decisions, policy formulation, and resource planning within the context of basic education development in Gombe State.

2.5 Methodological Limitations

While this study aims to present a comprehensive overview of basic education in Gombe State, it encountered occasional gaps in historical enrollment data spanning the past three to five years. These few instances may limit the precision of trend analysis and the projection of future teacher requirements based on anticipated growth in student populations. However, available data still offers valuable insights to inform baseline estimates.

In addition, due to the sensitive nature and volume of personal records, certain teacher-specific details—such as names, qualifications, professional experience, roles, duty stations, and appointment dates—were not explicitly listed in the document. This omission aligns with data protection guidelines. Nonetheless, these records are securely stored in the Gombe State Education Management Information System (EMIS) and remain accessible to authorized users for reference and validation.

SECTION THREE

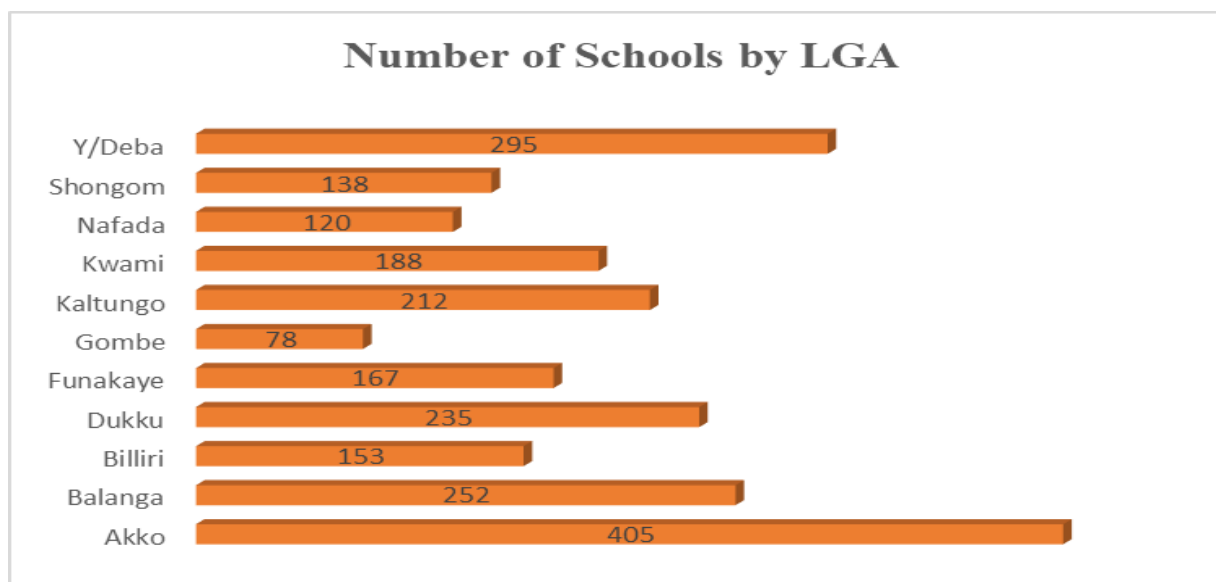

3.0 SITUATIONAL ANALYSIS

3.1 Overview of Basic Education System and Human Resources in Gombe State

3.1.1 Number of Government-owned basic education facilities in the State

The educational infrastructure in Gombe State is robust, with a total of 2,243 schools distributed across its 11 Local Government Areas (LGAs). As illustrated in Figure 1, Akko LGA has the highest number of schools, totaling 405, followed by YamaltuDeba with 295 and Balanga with 252. Conversely, Gombe LGA has the fewest schools (78), with Nafada and Shongom following closely at 120 and 138, respectively. On average, each LGA hosts approximately 204 schools, reflecting a significant effort to ensure equitable access to education throughout the state.

Source: Gombe State Universal Basic Education Board (SUBEB) & Gombe State Annual School Census

This distribution reflects a committed endeavor to provide educational facilities to students across diverse regions, which is essential for maintaining and improving overall educational standards.

3.1.2 Basic Education Facility Density in Gombe State

The educational infrastructure in Gombe State is well-developed, with a total of 2,243 schools distributed across its 11 Local Government Areas (LGAs). These institutions are categorized into Pre-Primary/Primary, constituting about 82% (1829), and Junior Secondary Schools (JSS) (414), reflecting a structured approach to basic education. Figure 2 show that Akko LGA has the highest number of primary schools with 338. This is followed by YamaltuDeba (256) and Dukku (205). These LGAs represent areas with significant infrastructure dedicated to primary education, likely reflecting a higher population density or a strategic focus on education access.

Conversely, certain LGAs like Gombe, Nafada, and Shongom report notably fewer primary schools, with 47, 103, and 104 respectively. These figures point to possible difficulties in adequately serving the educational needs of local communities. The relatively low numbers may reflect gaps in infrastructure that could benefit from targeted resource allocation to improve access to primary schooling across these areas.

The uneven distribution of primary and junior secondary schools stresses the need for a more strategic approach to allocating educational resources. Local Government Areas with limited school infrastructure would benefit from focused investments aimed at constructing new schools and upgrading existing facilities. Moreover, enhancing the supply of qualified teachers and essential learning materials in these areas will be vital to raising the overall quality of education.

Table 1: Student Enrollment in Basic Education Facilities in Gombe State

S/N	LGA	Pre-Prim. /Prim. Sch. Students	Junior Sec. Sch. Students	Total Enrolment
1	Akko	92,454	17,253	109,707
2	Balanga	31,574	4745	36,319
3	Billiri	89213	7553	96,766
4	Dukku	67,366	4560	71,926
5	Funakaye	59,704	6873	66,577
6	Gombe	77780	25973	103,753
7	Kaltungo	37807	6904	44,711
8	Kwami	41370	5922	47,292
9	Nafada	44773	4173	48,946
10	Shongom	24550	11,189	35,739
11	YamaltuDeba	51847	7551	59,398
	Total	618,438	102696	721134

Source: Gombe State Universal Basic Education Board (SUBEB) & Gombe State Annual School Census

Table 1 presents a comprehensive breakdown of student enrolment across Gombe State's Local Government Areas (LGAs), categorized by Pre-Primary/Primary and Junior Secondary levels. The state serves 721,134 students, with 618,438 (85.7%) in Pre-Primary/Primary schools and 102,696 (14.3%) in Junior Secondary schools. This disparity has justified why the state provided a greater number pre-primary/primary schools than junior secondary schools. This disparity could be possibly due to a significant drop in enrolment at the secondary level. This suggests potential challenges in retention or transition rates. Akko leads with 109,707 students, driven by its large Pre-Primary/Primary enrolment (92,454). Gombe LGA follows closely (103,753 total), with the highest Junior Secondary enrolment (25,973), likely due to its urban infrastructure. On the contrary, Shongom (35,739 total) and Balanga (36,319 total) have the fewest students, possibly due to their lower population density or limited school access.

Nafada has 44,773 Primary students but only 4,173 in Junior Secondary. This means a 90% drop, which is a severe attrition rate. YamaltuDeba and Billiri also show sharp declines (85% and 92% retention rates, respectively). However, Gombe LGA retains 33% of students in Junior Secondary, the highest proportion, likely due to better facilities or urban advantages.

The high decline in Junior Secondary enrolment suggests systemic issues, such as inadequate facilities, socioeconomic barriers, or early dropouts. Rural LGAs (e.g., Shongom, Nafada) may require targeted interventions to improve access and transition rates. Akko and Gombe LGAs need sustained support to manage high demand, while low-enrolment areas may benefit from infrastructure expansion.

Source: Gombe State Universal Basic Education Board (SUBEB) & Gombe State Annual School Census

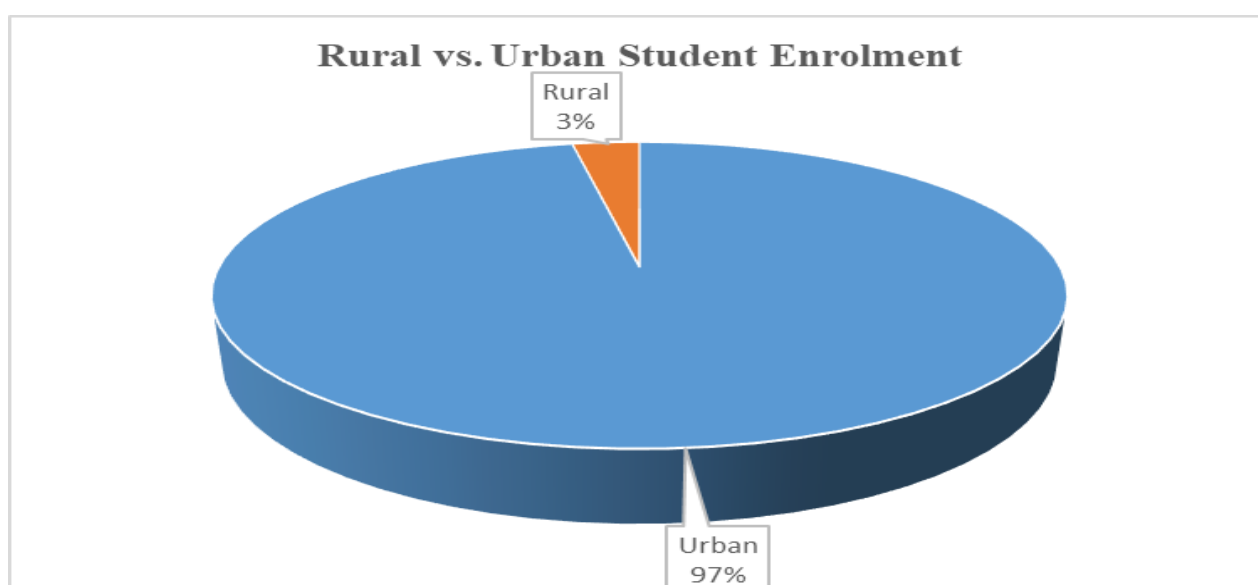

In the chart, Gombe LGA exhibits the most gender-balanced enrollment, with 51,965 male and 51,788 female students, indicating near parity and suggesting effective gender-inclusive educational policies and access. Akko LGA, despite having the highest overall student population, exhibits a moderate gender gap: 58,500 male students versus 51,207 female students, revealing a difference of over 7,000 in favor of males. Balanga LGA shows the widest gender disparity, with male students (25,758) outnumbering female students (10,561) by more than 15,000, pointing to a significant gender gap that may stem from socio-cultural, economic, or institutional barriers limiting girls' access to education.

In contrast, Billiri and Kaltungo LGAs report more female students than males, indicating areas where girls' enrollment is relatively higher. In Billiri for instance, 51,468 students are female while 45,298 are male. In Kaltungo, there are 23,460 females against 21,733 males. Shongom and Yamaltu/Deba maintain relatively narrower gender gaps, though both still favor male students slightly. Overall, male students dominate enrolment in most LGAs.

These disparities highlight the uneven progress toward gender parity in education across Gombe State. While some LGAs are advancing in promoting female education, others—particularly Balanga, Kwami, Nafada, Akko and Funakye require targeted interventions to address the gender gap. Strategies may include: community sensitization on girls' education, provision of girl-friendly school environments, incentive programs such as scholarships or conditional cash transfers for girls, and strengthening local enforcement of universal basic education policies.

Source: Gombe State Universal Basic Education Board (SUBEB) & Gombe State Annual School Census

Figure 4 shows a major imbalance in student enrollment between rural and urban areas. Specifically, urban areas account for 97% of student enrollment, as rural areas account for only 3%. The overwhelming dominance of urban enrolment suggests that students in rural areas face significant barriers to accessing education. This could be due to factors such as fewer schools, limited infrastructure, longer travel distances, or socio-economic challenges in rural communities. The figure highlights a likely imbalance in the distribution of educational resources, with urban areas receiving far greater attention and investment compared to rural regions. Such a large gap can perpetuate cycles of poverty and limit opportunities for rural populations, as education is a key driver of social and economic mobility.

Addressing this disparity would require targeted interventions, such as building more schools in rural areas, providing incentives for teachers to work in these regions, improving transportation, and implementing outreach programs to encourage rural enrolment. The figure may also reflect broader trends of urban migration, where families move to cities for better educational opportunities. Ensuring equitable access to education is essential for balanced regional development and social cohesion. The current enrolment pattern underscores the need for policies that bridge the urban-rural divide.

3.1.3 Current Basic Education Workforce in Gombe State and their Locations

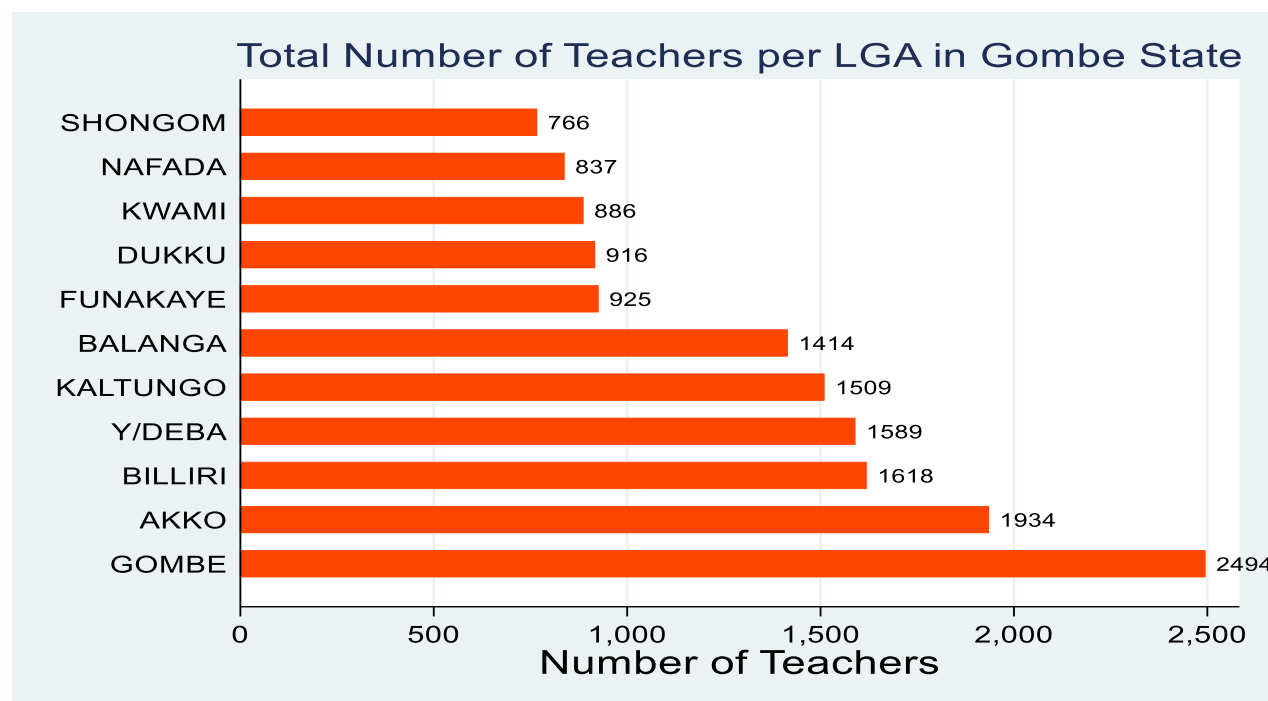

3.1.3.1 Total Basic Education Workforce in Gombe State by LGA

Figure 5 presents the distribution of teachers across the 11 Local Government Areas (LGAs) in Gombe State, highlighting significant disparities in staffing levels. Gombe LGA stands out with the highest number of teachers, totaling 2,494. This is followed by Akko (1,934), Billiri (1,618), and Yamaltu/Deba (1,589), indicating that these LGAs have a relatively stronger educational workforce. The higher teacher numbers in these areas may be attributed to larger populations, greater numbers of schools, or a higher prioritization of educational resources.

These imbalances have serious implications for education quality across the state. In Shongom, for instance, the 766 teachers must serve a student population of approximately 35,739 (see Table 1), creating a challenging student-teacher ratio of about 47:1. By contrast, Gombe LGA's ratio is likely closer to 41:1 (2,494 teachers for 103,753 students). While both ratios exceed ideal standards, the rural areas bear a disproportionate burden. The concentration of teachers in urban areas may stem from several factors, including better infrastructure, more amenities, and established patterns of resource allocation that favor developed regions over peripheral ones.

To address these disparities, Gombe State should implement targeted interventions. Priority should be given to developing incentive programmes that encourage teachers to work in rural LGAs, such as housing allowances, faster career progression, or special allowances. The state might also consider establishing minimum teacher thresholds for each LGA and implementing a rotational posting system between urban and rural schools. Also, investments in rural school infrastructure and teacher housing could help retain educators in underserved areas.

Source: Gombe State Universal Basic Education Board (SUBEB) & Gombe State Annual School Census

Figure 6 displays the total number of teachers in each of the 11 Local Government Areas (LGAs) of Gombe State, categorized by school type: Pre-Primary/Primary and Junior Secondary. In every LGA, the number of Pre-Primary/Primary school teachers far exceeds that of Junior Secondary teachers. This suggests a greater emphasis or need for staffing at the foundational education level across the state. Gombe LGA has the largest total number of teachers, with 1,994 in Pre-Primary/Primary and 500 in Junior Secondary, making it the best-staffed LGA overall. Akko, Billiri, and Yamaltu/Deba also have high numbers of teachers, indicating these LGAs may have larger populations, more schools, or greater educational resource allocation.

On the other hand, Funakaye and Dukku have the fewest teachers in both categories, with Funakaye having only 116 Junior Secondary and 809 Pre-Primary/Primary teachers, and Dukku with 124 Junior Secondary and 792 Pre-Primary/Primary teachers.

This may reflect smaller populations, fewer schools, or challenges in teacher recruitment and retention.

The number of Junior Secondary teachers is consistently lower than Pre-Primary/Primary across all LGAs, but the gap is particularly wide in LGAs like Gombe, Akko, and Billiri. This indicates a need for targeted recruitment or support for Junior Secondary education in these areas. The uneven distribution of teachers suggests that some LGAs, especially Gombe, Akko, and Billiri, are better resourced, while others like Funakaye and Dukku may require additional support to ensure equitable educational opportunities. LGAs with fewer teachers may experience higher student-teacher ratios, potentially affecting the quality of education and individual student attention. Addressing the disparities in teacher distribution, especially for Junior Secondary schools, should be a top priority for policymakers.

Figure 7 illustrates the distribution of male and female teachers across the 11 Local Government Areas (LGAs) in Gombe State, revealing notable gender disparities and variations in teacher numbers by location.

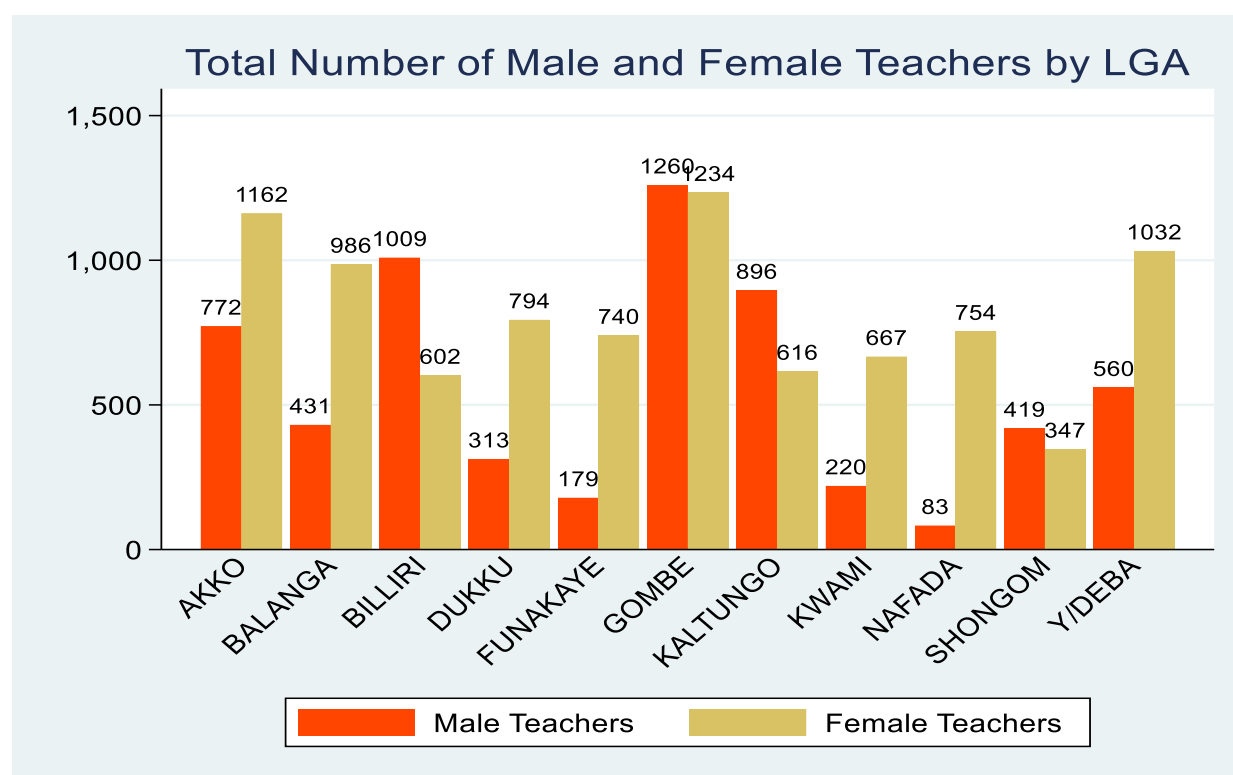

In most LGAs, the number of female teachers surpasses that of male teachers. This trend is especially pronounced in Balanga, Funakaye, Kwami, Nafada, Shongom, and Y/Deba, where female teachers outnumber their male counterparts by a significant margin. Gombe LGA has the highest total number of teachers, with relatively gender-balanced teaching workforce: male (1,260) and female (1,234). This suggests Gombe is a major educational hub in the state. Nafada records the lowest numbers, with only 83 male and 667 female teachers, indicating potential staffing challenges or a smaller population base. Conversely, in Billiri, Gombe, and Kaltungo, male teachers are more numerous than female teachers.

LGAs, such as Akko and Kaltungo, show a relatively balanced distribution between male and female teachers, though slight differences persist.

The predominance of female teachers in several LGAs may reflect recruitment patterns, cultural factors, or the attractiveness of teaching as a profession for women in these areas. However, the few LGAs with more male teachers may require targeted gender balance interventions. LGAs with lower total teacher numbers, such as Nafada and Shongom, may face higher student-teacher ratios, potentially impacting the quality of education. These areas may benefit from increased recruitment and deployment of teachers.

Source: Gombe State Universal Basic Education Board (SUBEB) & Gombe State Annual School Census

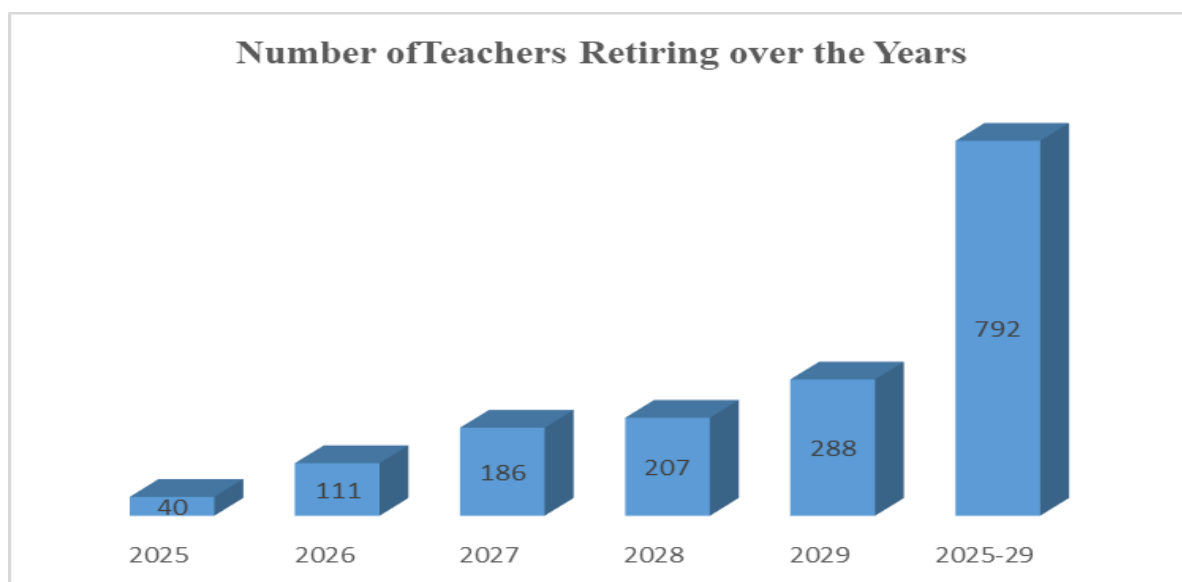

Addressing both the overall teacher shortages in certain LGAs and the gender imbalances is important for promoting equitable and inclusive education across Gombe State.

Figure 8 presents the projected number of teacher retirements across different years, spanning from 2025 to 2030, with an aggregated figure for the entire 2025–2030 period. The number of retiring teachers rises each year, starting from 40 in 2025 to 186 in 2027 and reaching 288 by 2029. This steady growth suggests an aging workforce and points to a potential need for increased recruitment and succession planning. By 2029, a total of 792 teachers is projected to retire. This cumulative figure stresses the scale of workforce turnover and the importance of proactive human resource management.

The increasing number of retirements will create vacancies that must be filled to maintain educational quality and continuity. Recruitment, training, and retention strategies will be essential to address this impending gap. The retirement trend may impact pension liabilities and require adjustments in staffing budgets and policies. With many experienced teachers leaving, there is a risk of losing institutional knowledge. Mentorship and knowledge transfer programs could help mitigate this effect.

Figure 8: Trend of Teachers Leaving the Service between 2025 and 2029 in Gombe State

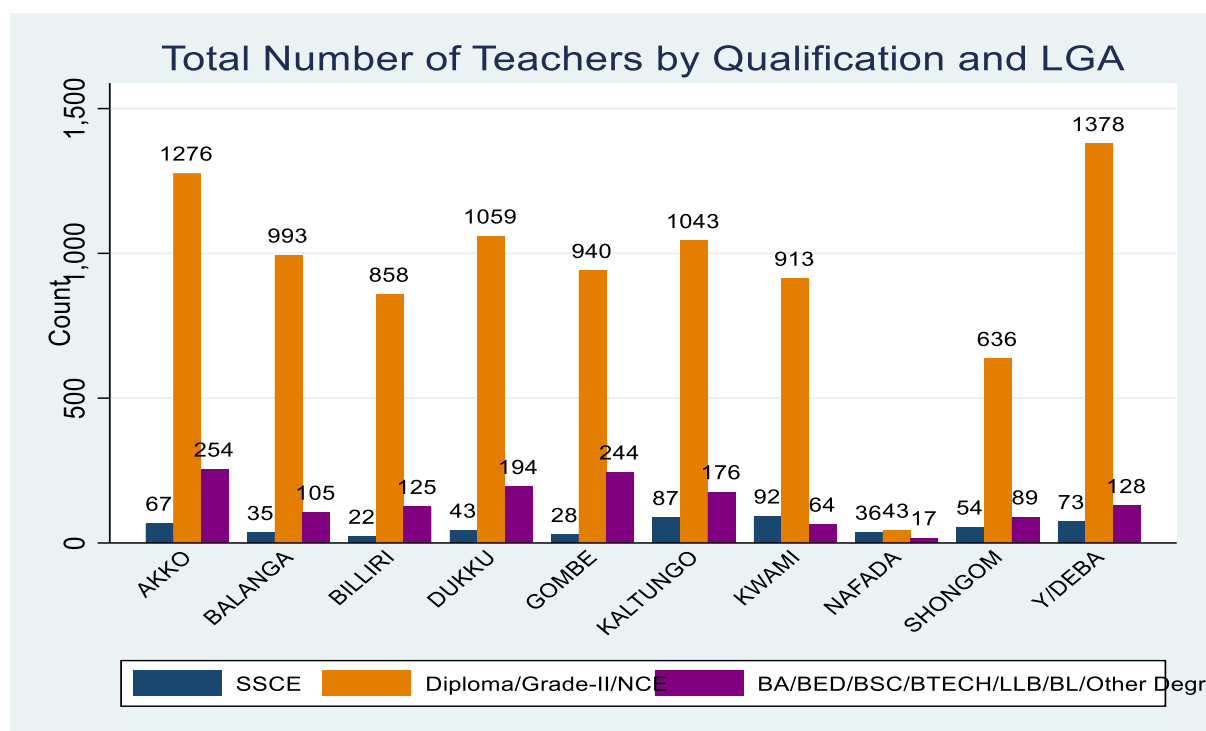

Source: Gombe State Universal Basic Education Board (SUBEB) & Gombe State Annual School Census

Therefore, government should accelerate the recruitment of new teachers in advance of the 2026–2029 retirement wave. It is good for the government to also consider mentorship programs where retiring teachers support younger colleagues before exit.

Finally, there is a need to allocate budget and training resources now to build a pipeline of qualified replacements.

Figure 9 shows the distribution of teachers across the 11 Local Government Areas (LGAs) of Gombe State, categorized by educational qualification. In Figure 9, the majority of teachers possess a Diploma, Grade-II, or NCE qualification across all LGAs. For instance, YamaltuDeba tops the list with 1,378 teachers in this category, followed by Akko (1,276), Kaltungo (1,043), and Dukku (1,059). This reflects the central role of the NCE as the minimum teaching qualification in Nigeria's basic education sector. However, the number of teachers with university degrees is significantly lower in every LGA compared to those with NCE or equivalent diplomas. Akko (254), Dukku (125), and Gombe (194) have relatively higher numbers of degree holders, but these figures are still modest compared to the NCE category.

This suggests that degree-qualified teachers are either less available or more likely to be employed in higher education levels or urban centers. Teachers with only SSCE qualifications form the smallest group in all LGAs. Their numbers are particularly low in Nafada (36), Billiri (22), and Dukku (43). The presence of SSCE holders in teaching positions may indicate challenges in teacher recruitment or shortages, especially in rural and underserved areas.

The overwhelming reliance on NCE-qualified teachers aligns with national policy but reveals the need for ongoing professional development to ensure teaching quality. The low number of degree holders may limit access to specialized subject knowledge, especially at higher basic education levels. The continued employment of SSCE holders suggests gaps in teacher supply, particularly in remote LGAs. Addressing these gaps through targeted recruitment, training, and incentives for higher qualifications is essential. Disparities in the number and qualification of teachers across LGAs may contribute to unequal educational outcomes. Policymakers should focus on equitable deployment and upskilling opportunities to promote balanced educational development.

Figure 10 depicts the number of teachers categorized by subjects taught. The subjects listed span a variety of disciplines, and the numbers of teachers teaching each subject. English language has the highest number of teachers, with a total of 1,353. This dominance indicates that English language is a core subject with a strong emphasis in the curriculum, likely due to its role as the primary language of instruction and its importance for students' academic progression. Mathematics follows with 914 teachers, which is another core subject. Similarly, IRK/Arabic/CRK (Islamic Religious Knowledge, Arabic, and Christian Religious Knowledge) has 768 teachers, reflecting the importance of religious and moral education in the region.

Agricultural Science has 298 teachers, and the lower numbers suggest that Agricultural Science, while relevant in an agrarian economy, may not be offered as widely or may face challenges in teacher recruitment or training.

3.1.3.2 Student Enrollment/Population Projection

Of the 36 states in the country, Gombe state ranks among the least populated states in the country with an estimated population of 3,960,122 in 2022, a growth rate of 2.9 percent and doubling time of 24.2 years. The state sustains a teeming population of about 47% who are below 15 years. Between 2022 and 2025, student enrollment in Basic Education in Gombe State fluctuated. It rose by 8.7% from 680,042 in 2022/2023 to a peak of 739,101 in 2023/2024, likely due to expanded access or policy interventions. However, enrollment dropped by 8.6% in 2024/2025 to 675,388, suggesting possible retention challenges or socioeconomic factors affecting student participation.

Graduation rates showed steady growth. In 2022/2023, male students made up 55% of graduates, while females accounted for 45%. In 2023/2024, female graduates increased significantly by 45.6%, briefly overtaking males with 46.7% of total graduates. However, in 2024/2025, the number of female graduates fell by 19.3%, resulting in male graduates making up 52.7% and females 47.3%. Therefore, government, planners, policymakers, and other actors in basic education must ensure that they are constantly planning and budgeting to accommodate increased student enrollment, especially in basic education.

Table 2a: Basic Education Student Enrollment and Population Projection

Student Enrollment in BED	680,042	739,101	675,388	698,177

Source: Analysis based on data from Gombe State EMIS and Gombe State Annual School Census Report, 2022-2025

Table 2a presents a five-year projection (2025–2029) of student population growth, starting from a current baseline of 1,225,024 students. The projections are based on an annual growth rate of 5%, driven by two key factors: natural population growth (due to birth rates and demographic trends) and increased enrolment (resulting from efforts to bring out-of-school children into the education system).

Table 2b: Projection of Student Population (2025-2029)

Student Population Projection	Number
Current Student Population	1225024
Projected Student Population 2025	1264224
Projected Student Population 2026	1304680
Projected Student Population 2027	1346429
Projected Student Population 2028	1389515
Projected Student Population 2029	1433980

Source: Gombe State Universal Basic Education Board (SUBEB) & Gombe State Annual School Census

The table shows a steady year-on-year increase, with the student population expected to rise from 1,264,224 in 2025 to 1,433,980 by 2029, an addition of 208,956 students over five years. This represents a cumulative growth of approximately 17%, highlighting significant pressure on educational infrastructure, resources, and staffing. The consistent 5% annual growth rate suggests that policymakers anticipate sustained efforts to expand access to education, whether through demographic changes, policy interventions, or both.

In summary, the projected growth in student population calls for strategic and sustained investment in the education sector to ensure quality and access are not compromised. Meeting the needs of over 1.4 million students by 2029 will require coordinated efforts among government agencies, development partners, and the private sector to ensure that every child has access to quality education in a conducive learning environment.

3.2 Teachers Gap Analysis and Findings

3.2.1 Total Basic Education Teachers Gap by Location in Gombe State

Table 3 presents the total basic education teacher gap by Local Government Area (LGA) in Gombe State from the current period through to 2029. It reflects a growing demand for teachers across the state's 11 LGAs in response to increasing student enrolment, driven by both population growth and efforts to reduce the number of out-of-school children. The data highlights disparities in teacher needs across LGAs and underscores a pressing need for strategic teacher recruitment and deployment over the next five years.

Currently, Gombe State has a teacher gap of 3,166, which is expected to rise sharply to 3,755 in 2025, 5,341 in 2026, and 6,457 by 2029. This represents a 104% increase in the gap over five years, indicating that the pace of teacher recruitment has not matched the pace of student population growth and teacher retirement. Notably, LGAs such as Akko, Billiri, Dukku, Funakaye, and Gombe experience the largest and most persistent teacher shortages. For instance, Akko's teacher gap rises from 309 to 965, while Billiri moves from 302 to 865 and Gombe LGA sees a dramatic increase from 103 to 884 within the same period.

Table 3: Total Basic Education Teachers Gap by LGA in Gombe State

LGA	Current Teachers Gap	Estimated 2025 Teachers Gap	Estimated 2026 Teachers Gap	Estimated 2027 Teachers Gap	Estimated 2028 Teachers Gap	Estimated 2029 Teachers Gap
Akko	309	449	768	779	777	965
Balanga	501	442	316	290	187	83
Billiri	302	430	715	740	898	865
Dukku	384	487	710	719	850	806
Funakaye	250	344	543	556	671	795
Gombe	103	243	539	541	719	884

Total	3166	3755	5341	5407	6118	6457

Source: Gombe State Universal Basic Education Board (SUBEB) & Gombe State Annual School Census

Some LGAs show interesting patterns of fluctuation. For instance, Balanga starts with a relatively high teacher gap of 501, which decreases significantly to 83 by 2029. Similarly, Kaltungo sees its gap reduce from 389 to just 56 over five years, possibly due to better teacher deployment or more stable student enrolment growth in those areas.

In contrast, Yamaltu/Deba, which starts with a low gap of 103, sees fluctuations, peaking in 2028 at 263 before dropping again to 39 in 2029.

These trends have strong policy implications. First, the persistent and increasing teacher shortage in most LGAs calls for urgent intervention in teacher recruitment, training, and retention. Without this, educational quality may deteriorate due to overcrowded classrooms and overburdened teachers. Secondly, resource allocation must be targeted and data-driven, prioritizing LGAs with the most significant gaps. Furthermore, the data suggests that long-term planning should consider not just increasing the number of teachers but also improving their distribution to ensure equitable access to quality education across all regions of the state.

Table 4 provides a summary of the basic education average teacher gap in Gombe State between 2025 and 2029, disaggregated by school type (namely, Pre-Primary/Primary and Junior Secondary) across all the 11 Local Government Areas (LGAs). The table shows the scale and distribution of the shortfall in teaching staff within the state's basic education system, serving as a critical input for policy and planning. Across the board, Pre-Primary/Primary schools account for the majority of the teacher shortage, making up roughly 80%–85% of the total gap in each LGA. For example, in Akko, the total teacher gap of 748 includes 598 at the pre-primary/primary level and 150 at the junior secondary level. This trend is consistent across all LGAs, indicating that early education is the most underserved level, likely due to rapid enrolment increases at the foundational stage and insufficient past investment in early childhood education staffing.

Akko, Billiri, Dukku, and Funakaye LGAs show the highest overall teacher gaps, with totals ranging from 581 to 748 teachers needed. These LGAs also show relatively high shortfalls in both primary and junior secondary school categories, suggesting growing enrolment pressures in both lower and upper tiers of basic education. In contrast, LGAs such as Kaltungo and Yamaltu/Deba show significantly lower overall gaps—146 and 130 teachers, respectively—indicating either more manageable enrolment increases or better teacher-to-student ratios in these areas.

The relatively lower teacher gap in junior secondary schools across the state may reflect past prioritization of upper basic education or lower enrolment rates at that level. However, with increasing transition rates from primary to junior secondary, this gap may widen if proactive steps are not taken now. The data suggests an urgent need for targeted recruitment and deployment of teachers, particularly in early childhood and primary education where the shortfall is most severe.

In summary, Gombe State's teacher workforce challenges are most acute at the foundational levels of education, with pre-primary and primary schools bearing the brunt of the teacher shortage. Addressing this imbalance will be crucial for ensuring a strong start to children's educational journeys and for sustaining improvements in learning outcomes. Stakeholders must prioritize investments in teacher recruitment, training, and retention, with special attention to LGAs with the highest deficits, to ensure that every child in the state has access to quality education.

Table 5 presents the projected basic education teacher gap across Gombe State's Local Government Areas (LGAs) between 2025 and 2029 based on projected student population and enrolment. The table indicates a significant shortfall in both pre-primary/primary and junior secondary schools. Akko LGA exhibits the highest overall teacher gap, requiring an estimated 2,061 teachers, with 1,535 needed at the pre-primary/primary level and 526 at the junior secondary level. This is followed by Dukku, which has a total projected gap of 1,255 teachers, comprising 817 for pre-primary/primary and 438 for junior secondary education.

Table 5: Summary of Project Basic Education Teachers Gap by School Type

LGA	Pre-Primary/Primary Teachers Gap (2025-2029)	Junior Secondary Teachers Gap (2025-2019)	Total Teachers Gap (2025-2029)
Akko	1535	526	2061
Balanga	521	147	668
Billiri	789	314	1,103
Dukku	817	438	1,255
Funakaye	635	372	1,007
Gombe	745	228	973
Kaltungo	388	126	514

Kwami	513	232	745
Nafada	565	216	781
Shongom	320	121	441
Y/ Deba	691	246	937

Note: Data Based on Project Student Population and Enrolment

Other LGAs with relatively high total gaps include Billiri (1,103), Funakaye (1,007), and Gombe (973), indicating a pressing need for teacher recruitment in these areas. In contrast, Shongom and Kaltungo have the lowest projected teacher gaps, at 441 and 514, respectively, though these figures still reflect substantial needs, particularly given resource constraints in rural LGAs.

Across the board, the data stress a consistent trend: pre-primary and primary levels account for the bulk of teacher shortages in every LGA, suggesting that early-grade education will face the most acute staffing pressures unless targeted interventions are implemented.

3.3 Institutional Structure for Basic Education Human Resource Management in Gombe State

3.3.1 Permissible Teacher-to-Pupil Ratio in Gombe State

In Nigeria, the National Policy on Education recommends a teacher-to-pupil ratio of 1:35 for primary schools and 1:40 for junior secondary schools to promote effective teaching and quality learning. These benchmarks are designed to ensure that learners receive adequate attention and support in the classroom.

However, in Gombe State, actual classroom conditions fall far short of these standards. Many primary and junior secondary schools are severely overcrowded. Current estimates indicate an average teacher-to-pupil ratio of approximately 1:142 in primary schools and 1:127 in junior secondary schools—well above the national guidelines. This stark disparity underscores the urgent need for strategic interventions to improve staffing levels, especially in underserved rural areas.

While the state government is committed to aligning with national standards, it has set interim targets to reduce overcrowding. In the short term, Gombe State aims to achieve a maximum average ratio of 1:70 in primary schools and 1:60 in junior secondary schools across both urban and rural settings. These transitional benchmarks are intended to pave the way toward full compliance with the National Policy on Education.

3.3.2 Special Education in Gombe State

Table 6: Special Education Programmes for Basic Education in Gombe State

LEVEL	PROGRAMME	NO. OF SCHOOLS	ENROLMENT			TEACHING STAFF			TLR
			M	F	T	M	F	T
Primary	Special Needs	2	221	85	306	8	4	12	1:25
JSS	Special Needs	2	115	58	173	11	5	16	1:11
Primary	Nomadic	125	22,531	13,899	36,430	306	108	414	1:87
JSS	Nomadic	96	5,432	3,875	9,307	69	46	115	1:80

Source: Gombe State Medium Term Basic Education Strategic Plans (MTBESPs) 2024.

In Gombe State, the 2024 strategic data show limited provision for early childhood special education, with no ECCDE schools for either Special Needs or Nomadic programmes. For Special Needs, only four schools exist—two each at primary and JSS levels—serving a total of 479 learners with 28 teaching staff, giving relatively favorable teacher-learner ratios of 1:25 and 1:11, respectively.

In contrast, the Nomadic education programme is far more extensive, especially at the primary level, with 125 schools educating 36,430 learners, and 96 JSS schools with 9,307 learners. Despite this reach, staffing is stretched thin: primary Nomadic schools have a high learner-to-teacher ratio of 1:87, while JSS level stands at 1:80. The gender balance among learners is fairly even, but over 70% of Nomadic teachers are male.

Overall, while Special Needs education enjoys more manageable class sizes, it is severely limited in coverage. Meanwhile, Nomadic education, though extensive, suffers from overcrowded classrooms and staffing shortfalls. The absence of ECCDE across both programmes highlights a critical gap in foundational education for vulnerable populations.

3.4 Challenges of Basic Education Workers Recruitment, Deployment and Retention in Gombe State.

Despite these efforts, Gombe State's basic education system continues to face significant obstacles in recruiting, deploying, and retaining qualified teachers. These challenges—ranging from inadequate funding and poor infrastructure to limited incentives and uneven teacher distribution—must be addressed holistically to ensure sustainable progress in education delivery.

- Limited Funding and Resources: The basic education sub-sector suffers from inadequate financial support, which affects the recruitment, deployment, and retention of teachers across the state.
- Urban-Rural Disparities in Teacher Deployment: There is a noticeable imbalance in teacher distribution, with rural schools often underserved. Many teachers prefer urban postings due to better infrastructure and living conditions.
- Uncompetitive Remuneration: The teaching profession in Gombe State lacks attractive salary structures and incentive packages, making it less appealing to young graduates and professionals.
- Shortage of Teaching and Learning Materials: Schools frequently lack essential instructional tools such as textbooks, chalkboards, digital devices, and other educational resources.

- Poor School Infrastructure: Many schools are without basic amenities like clean drinking water, electricity, and adequate water, sanitation, and hygiene (WASH) facilities, which affects both teaching and learning environments.
- Weak Monitoring and Mentorship Systems: Oversight and support from relevant Ministries, Departments, and Agencies (MDAs) are often insufficient, leading to gaps in teacher performance and professional development.
- Low Community Engagement: Community involvement in school oversight, teacher accountability, and advocacy for improved recruitment and training remains minimal, limiting grassroots support for educational reforms.

SECTION FOUR

4.0 RECRUITMENT/DEPLOYMENT PLAN AND COSTING

4.1 Recruitment Plan

The recruitment strategy will be guided by subject-specific needs identified during the workforce gap analysis. Priority will be given to core subject areas such as Science, Mathematics, ICT, and English Language, where current staffing levels are critically low. Additionally, technical and vocational subjects will be targeted to support the diversification of skills development in line with national priorities. To achieve a more inclusive and equitable workforce, recruitment targets will explicitly address gender balance and the inclusion of persons with special needs. The plan aims to achieve at least 40% female representation in new hires across all subject areas, with particular encouragement and support for women in STEM subjects. Moreover, a minimum of 5% of recruitment slots will be reserved for qualified candidates with disabilities, ensuring that facilities and roles are adapted to meet accessibility requirements.

4.1.1 Basic Education Teachers Recruitment by School Level (5-year Projection)

Table 7a outlines the projected teacher recruitment targets by school type in Gombe State from 2025 to 2029, providing a roadmap for addressing the growing teacher gap in both pre-primary/primary and junior secondary education levels. A total of 27,078 teachers is expected to be recruited over the five-year period, with the largest share (about 80%) allocated to pre-primary and primary schools, reflecting the acute shortage at this foundational level.

Table 7a: Basic Education Teachers Recruitment by School Level (5-year Projection)

Teachers Recruitment by School Type	2025	2026	2027	2028	2029	Total
Pre-Primary/Primary	3,004	4,273	4,326	4,894	5,166	21,663

Junior Secondary	751	1,068	1,081	1,224	1,291	5,415
Total	3,755	5,341	5,407	6,118	6,457	27,078

For pre-primary and primary education, the recruitment should begin with 3,004 teachers in 2025 and increases gradually each year, peaking at 5,166 in 2029. This steady upward trend in the need for recruitment mirrors the rising student enrolment and the urgent need to bridge the widening teacher gap in early education. It also signals the need for a deliberate policy shift to prioritize foundational learning, which is essential for long-term educational success and system efficiency. Recruitment into junior secondary schools should follow a similar, albeit smaller, trajectory. The number of teachers to be recruited rises from 751 in 2025 to 1,291 in 2029. Although the overall figures are lower compared to primary education, this planned increase suggests a recognition of growing enrolment pressures at the junior secondary level, likely due to improved transition rates from primary schools.

This comprehensive recruitment plan is a positive and necessary response to the teacher gap projections presented in earlier data. If implemented effectively, it has the potential to substantially reduce the existing deficits, improve teacher-student ratios, and enhance learning outcomes across the state. However, achieving these recruitment targets will require significant investment in teacher training institutions, budget allocations, and transparent recruitment processes.

4.2 Deployment Plan

4.2.1 Basic Education Teachers Deployment Plan by Classification of Duty Station

Table 7b: Basic Education Teachers Deployment Plan by Classification of Duty Station

Teachers Recruitment by Duty Station	2025	2026	2027	2028	2029	Total
Rural	188	267	270	306	323	1,354
Urban	3,567	5074	5137	5812	6134	25,724
Total	3755	5341	5407	6118	6457	27,078

In Table 7b, urban duty stations account for 25,724 out of 27,078 potential teacher recruitments, representing approximately 95% of the total over the five-year period. Only 1,354 teachers (about 5% of the total) should be deployed to rural areas across over the five years. Each year, urban recruitment numbers are dramatically higher than rural, with the gap widening over time.

The deployment plan is heavily skewed toward urban areas, mirroring patterns seen in student enrolment and potentially reinforcing educational inequality between rural and urban communities. The table suggests a need for targeted strategies to increase teacher recruitment and retention in rural areas, such as incentives, improved infrastructure, or specialized rural education programs. The deployment plan reflects a significant imbalance in teacher allocation, with urban schools set to receive the overwhelming majority of new teachers from 2025 to 2029. Without policy adjustments, this could exacerbate educational disparities and limit opportunities for students in rural communities.

For urban schools, where enrollment is higher, but teacher concentrations are already greater, the pupil-teacher ratio (PTR) targets are as follows: it will be reduced from current ratio of 40:1 to 35:1 by 2025 and further down to 30:1 by 2029. The essence for the gradual reduction is to align with global standards for quality education while preventing excessive strain on urban systems. For rural schools, where teacher shortages are severe and PTRs often exceed 60:1, the targets are more ambitious in the short term—45:1 by 2025—before reaching parity with urban schools at 35:1 by 2029. These targets would help close the equity gap in education access.

4.2.2 Basic Education Teachers Deployment by LGA

Table 9: Basic Education Teachers Deployment by LGA

LGA	Current	2025	2026	2027	2028	2029

Y/ Deba	103	24	158	167	263	39

Table 8 presents the current number of teachers and the planned teacher for deployment for each Local Government Area (LGA) in Gombe State from 2025 to 2029. Most LGAs show a significant planned increase in teacher deployment over the five years, indicating efforts to strengthen the education workforce and improve teaching capacity. LGAs like Gombe (urban) show the need for increasing teacher deployment, suggesting prioritization of teacher deployment in urban centers. Conversely, LGAs such as Balanga, Kaltungo, and Y/ Deba show declining or fluctuating teacher numbers. The deployment plan reflects an overall positive trend of increasing teacher numbers in most LGAs, aiming to improve educational delivery.

However, significant declines in a few LGAs highlight potential inequalities that require attention to avoid widening educational gaps between regions.

4.2.3 Teachers Deployment by Subject Taught

Table 9 outlines the deployment of teachers by subject area across Gombe State's basic education system for the period 2025 to 2029. It reflects a strategic effort to address subject-specific teacher shortages in alignment with curriculum demands and policy priorities, particularly in foundational, technical, and citizenship education. A total of 27,078 teachers are expected to be deployed over five years, with annual increases to match the rising student population and educational coverage targets. English and Mathematics receive the highest deployment figures across all five years. By 2029, 885 English teachers and 800 Mathematics teachers will have been deployed, making up the largest individual subject allocations. This trend highlights the prioritization of literacy and numeracy, which form the cornerstone of learning in basic education and are crucial for academic progression and performance in other subjects.

Subjects within the STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) category also show strong deployment figures. Notably, Basic Science and Introductory Technology records a steady rise in teacher deployment from 400 in 2025 to 690 by 2029. This signals the state's commitment to strengthening science and technology education, which is essential for economic development and national competitiveness.

Table 9: Teachers Deployment by Subject Taught

Teachers Deployment by Subject Area	2025	2026	2027	2028	2029
English	510	730	745	840	885

Computer Programming	120	180	192	208	227
Total	3,755	5,341	5,407	6,118	6,457

Similarly, Computer Programming, though still receiving fewer teachers relative to other subjects, reflects a growing recognition of the need for digital skills among students, with deployments rising from 120 to 227 within the same period.

In the social and civic domains, significant numbers of teachers are deployed for Social Studies, Civic Education, and Religious Studies (CRS/IRS). These subjects, which cumulatively account for over 5,000 teacher deployments over the period, reveal the needs for more state's efforts to inculcate values, promote social cohesion, and foster responsible citizenship among learners. The strong deployment of Hausa teachers further reflects the cultural and linguistic context of the region, ensuring that learners can access education in their mother tongue, especially at lower grade levels.

Creative and vocational subjects, including Cultural and Creative Arts, Home Economics, Business Studies, and Agricultural Science, should also be supported through targeted teacher recruitment. These areas are crucial for promoting practical skills, entrepreneurship, and self-reliance, especially for learners who may not proceed to tertiary education. Although the numbers are lower than for core subjects, their consistent inclusion in teacher deployment plans demonstrates a commitment to holistic education.

4.2.4 Framework for Equitable Teacher Deployment in Gombe State

Gombe State prioritizes equitable teacher deployment by focusing on underserved schools, communities, and LGAs. The strategy allocates 59% of new teachers to rural areas in 2026, directly addressing critical teacher shortages that have impeded educational progress in these regions. This targeted approach bridges the urban-rural education gap, fosters stronger community support for basic education, and enhances primary-to-secondary school transition rates.

Furthermore, Gombe State's recruitment process actively promotes inclusion and diversity. By prioritizing the hiring of women, persons with disabilities, minorities, and other historically disadvantaged groups, the state aims to build a teaching workforce that reflects the diversity of its student population. This commitment to a diverse teaching body leverages varied perspectives and experiences, ultimately fostering better educational outcomes and contributing to students' holistic development.

4.2.4.1 Strategy for Sourcing and Recruiting New Teachers for Gombe State

To effectively address the current teacher shortage, Gombe State will implement the following comprehensive recruitment strategies:

1. Dual Recruitment Approach: A combination of internal and external recruitment will be utilized. Qualified candidates from the existing workforce will be identified and promoted internally to fill vacancies. Externally, targeted campaigns will attract new talent through online portals, social media, and professional networks, prioritizing critical subject areas identified in Gombe State's gap analysis.
2. Institutional Capacity Building: Investments will upgrade infrastructure and resources at Gombe State's Colleges of Education and tertiary institutions, modernizing facilities and updating curricula to enhance teacher training capacity. Strategic partnerships with reputable institutions will create pathways (e.g., internships, mentorship) for students to transition into teaching roles within Gombe State.

3. Financial Incentives: Scholarships will support students pursuing education degrees, covering tuition and essential expenses. Additional incentives like signing bonuses, housing allowances, and transport stipends will attract and retain teachers in state-owned schools, particularly in Gombe's underserved rural communities.
4. Enhanced Working Environment: Working conditions will be improved by ensuring schools are equipped with necessary materials, technology, and support staff. Special hardship allowances and professional growth opportunities will be offered to teachers in Gombe's challenging rural postings.
5. Professional Development Support: Ongoing professional development (workshops, seminars, online courses) will enhance existing teachers' skills. Scholarships will enable teachers holding SSCE certificates within Gombe State to pursue higher qualifications (NCE, Grade II), building a more competent workforce.
6. Special Needs Education Focus: Targeted recruitment will hire teachers with specialized expertise in special needs education. Dedicated training programs (certification courses, workshops) will equip current and prospective Gombe State teachers to support students with disabilities and diverse learning needs.
7. Gender Balancing Strategy: A deliberate gender balancing strategy will be implemented. This strategy will include setting gender-sensitive recruitment targets to increase the representation of female teachers, especially in rural and male-dominated subject areas such as science and mathematics. Outreach programs and awareness campaigns will be organized in secondary schools and tertiary institutions to encourage young women to pursue careers in education. For gender equity, the plan mandates minimum 40% representation of the underrepresented gender in hiring, with specific incentives like STEM-focused scholarships for women and retention bonuses for female teachers in rural areas.

8. Social Inclusion Strategy: This strategy aims to ensure equitable access to teaching opportunities for marginalized groups, including persons with disabilities, ethnic minorities, and candidates from underserved communities. Recruitment processes will be designed to eliminate bias, with inclusive job advertisements, accessible application procedures, and accommodations for candidates with special needs. Social inclusion initiatives seek to prioritize representation of marginalized groups through reserved hiring quotas (5% for persons with disabilities and disadvantaged backgrounds) and accessible recruitment processes.

By implementing these strategies, Gombe State aims to build a robust, capable, and equitably distributed teaching workforce, ensuring the attraction, retention, and development of high-quality teachers committed to meeting the diverse educational needs of all students across the state.

4.3 Multi-Year Costed Basic Education Teachers Recruitment and Deployment Plan

4.3.1 Financing the Costed Recruitment and Deployment Plan

The data reveals a front-loaded, high-investment strategy to address teacher shortages, with 78% of total hires (3,458 of 4,437 teachers) concentrated in the first two years (2025-2026), requiring 70% of the total ₦2.74 billion budget. Recruitment costs peak initially (₦172.8M in 2025) but cease after 2026, while recurring personnel/operational costs dominate later years (₦34.6M/year for salaries and ₦74-148M/year for overheads). The 20% cost escalation significantly increases the 5-year total to ₦2.74B, emphasizing the fiscal commitment needed for equitable teacher deployment, particularly through sustained incentives and infrastructure beyond initial hiring surges.

A diversified funding strategy proposes sourcing 60% from government budgets, 25% from grants/donor funds, and 15% from private sector and community contributions. This approach will leverage technology for statewide teacher outreach and incorporate partnerships with training institutions. To enhance non-government funding, efforts will focus on attracting resources through strategic partnerships, aligning activities with partners, and increasing private sector and community engagement, thereby promoting sustainable funding diversification. This collaborative approach cultivates shared responsibility and accountability in resource management. It emphasizes stakeholder partnerships, community engagement, and democratic processes within basic education delivery. These practices establish a robust foundation for achieving effective, sustainable education accessible to all children—overcoming physical, social, economic, and geographical barriers.

SECTION FIVE

5.0 RECOMMENDATIONS

The situational analysis of Gombe State's basic education system reveals critical gaps in teacher supply, infrastructure, and equitable access. To address these challenges, the following strategic interventions are recommended:

1. Teacher Recruitment and Retention

- a) Targeted Recruitment to Address Shortages: The state must prioritize hiring qualified teachers, particularly in LGAs with severe shortages such as Akko, Gombe, and Billiri. Given that pre-primary and primary schools account for over 80% of the teacher gap, early-grade education should be the focus. Recruitment should align with subject-specific demands, particularly in core areas like English, Mathematics, and STEM fields, where deficits are most pronounced.
- b) Incentivizing Teachers for Rural and Underserved Areas: Rural LGAs (e.g., Funakaye, Shongom) face acute teacher shortages due to unattractive postings. Introducing housing stipends, accelerated promotions, and rural retention bonuses could improve deployment equity. A rotational posting system between urban and rural schools should be explored to ensure experienced teachers serve in high-need areas.
- c) Mitigating the Impact of Retiring Teachers: With nearly 800 teachers projected to retire by 2029, succession planning is critical. Fast-tracked recruitment, combined with mentorship programs pairing retiring and new teachers, can preserve institutional knowledge.

2. Reducing Disparities in Access and Quality

- a) Closing the Gender Gap in Enrollment: LGAs like Balanga and Kwami exhibit stark gender disparities, with far fewer girls in school. Interventions such as community sensitization, girls' scholarships, and safe school environments can improve female participation. Successful models from Billiri and Kaltungo, where female enrollment exceeds male, should be replicated.

- b) Expanding Rural Education Access: The extreme urban-rural imbalance (97% of students in urban schools) demands urgent investment in new rural schools, mobile learning solutions, and transportation support. Partnerships with NGOs and telecom providers could facilitate digital education in remote areas.

3. Strengthening Education Governance

- a) Evidence-Based Planning through Improved Data Systems: A real-time Education Management Information System (EMIS) should track teacher deployment, student enrollment, and learning outcomes to guide equitable resource allocation. Projections showing 17% enrollment growth by 2029 must inform infrastructure and staffing plans.
- b) Sustainable Financing through Partnerships: Over-reliance on government funding risks stagnation. Private sector collaborations, donor partnerships, and community contributions can supplement budgets, particularly for STEM labs and teacher training.

5.1 CONCLUSION

Gombe State stands at a pivotal moment in its education development. While challenges such as teacher shortages, rural-urban divides, and gender disparities are significant, they are not insurmountable. By focusing on equitable teacher deployment, targeted enrollment drives, and systemic reforms, the state can ensure inclusive, quality education for all children.

The Way Forward:

- Immediate action to recruit and train teachers, particularly for foundational education.

- Pilot programs in high-disparity LGAs to test scalable solutions for rural access and girls' education.
- Stakeholder collaboration among government, communities, and development partners to sustain progress.
- With these measures, Gombe State can transform its education system into one that not only meets immediate needs but also fosters long-term social and economic growth.
